mary court reported findings in several minor cases. The decision of the Martin-Brauer court of inquiry was announced and, as predicted, showed the complete vindication of the officer.

Lieutenant Slack was placed under arrest yesterday afternoon as the result of the fading of a court declaring him guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman. The adjutant was directed to prefer charges against the officer founded on these proceedings, and the matter now goes before the Governor, who will probably call for a general court-martial to be held to-day or to-morrow. Lieutenant Slack was found guilty of trespassing on the premises of a woman named Madeline Loopz, and also of cursing and threatening to shoot her. A regimental parade was held yesterday Afternoon at the Reservoir with great success. A great many people went out to witness the scene. Lieutenant-Colonel Perry was in command, and Colonel Anderson himself was present as a spectator. Major Saville was in command of the first battallon; Major cheatwood, of the second, and Captain Carter Braxton, of the third. It was at this time that the lardella incident referred to in another solumn occurred. It caused quite a deal of comment during the day.

The Conditions Yesterday, not-

The Conditions Yesterday.

The Conditions Yesterday.

According to all reports yesterday, notwithistanding the fact that it was Saturday, was one of the quietest days since the strike began. No serious trouble of any sort devoloped at any time.

There was some little disorder on the Fairmount line, but nothing very dancerous. Stones were thrown again, and some of them were piaced on the tracks.
So far as could be gathered, however, nobody was hurt. In Manchester things kept generally quiet. Some stones are reported from Swansboro, Car. No. 413 was rocked and one of the inspectors was hurt. He was struck on the leg, but his fully will amount to nothing but a brulse, perhaps. These two instances are same thing was stated. River View, Seventeenth Street, Seven Pines, and all the other lines were quiet. There was nothing vent of war recently. At the Reservoir barns it was stated that not a single re-port of the least trouble had been re-leived during the livelong day.

Even the courts kept comparatively just yesterday. There were one or two brivial cases, but not a very great deal of interest was taken in them. The most interesting matters of this sort were in the military courts, the happenings in which are reported elsewhere.

The Strike Itself.

The Strike Itself.

Within the pales of the question of the particle itself, the return of many of the men to work is still the matter of chief importance. Hardly a day passes now when several of the ex-employes of the jompany do not return to the Reservoir recking employment. Five or six of them id this yesterday, swelling the total thus far returned up to nearly twenty men.

Officers of the company are decidedly pleased with the aspect of the situation as it presents itself at this stage. There are at this time practically no more strike-breakers on the field, Only regular men are at work. Farley left Friday night for the North, and Thomson, another thief of a gang of professionals, went way last night. Thus one feature of the tore of the strikers will come gether and decided to break away and return to work while there is yet time. It is known that a number of the men have been looking into the matter, and that several of them have gone so far as to confer with officials of the company nbout returning. Many of them have done so outright. In addition to the fourteen reported Friday, five of them went back yesterday. This swells the total to hineteen or twenty, the great majority of whom are in Richmond and Manchester. Among the men who returned yesterday are C. G. Brooking. S. Ward, of Manchester, conductor; Thomas Parks, of Manchester, motorman, and S. H. Smith, of Richmond, conductor. The schedule is being steadily improved. The full number of cars-fourteen—are being run on Main and Clay. The Broad-Main line was opened yesterday for the first time since the strike began. There were nine cars on it and eight on the straight Broad Street line, an increase of five cars in the aggregate. Three more will be added to-day, making the total number run on the two lines twenty. More cars will be put on the other lines to-day in the event that the Sunday traffic demands such an extension of the service. Mr. Buchanan said yesterday that the traffic on the Main Street line every day is now about normal-broad and Clay are still somewhat blow the normal, but are gradually picking up.

there were no special developments during the day in the direction of the strikers. All sorts of reports about the probability of a sudden and early end to the strike are floating about, but the officers of the division vigorously declare that they are altogether unfounded, so

SLEEPLESS NIGHT IS SUCCEDED BY QUIET DAY

SUCCEDED BY QUIET DAY

(By Associated Press.)

ROME, July 18.—Deprived of rest, the Pope spent the day which has just ended with a serious depression. The dectors reported a feeble but rapid pulse, which was generally taken to indicate the wearing out of the patient's forces. The favorable symptoms recorded in the morning out of the patient's forces. The favorable symptoms recorded in the morning of the pleurotte liquid was sufficiently maintained to relieve the Pontiff of his patient struggies for breath, which lately have been so frequent. The deciror fear that the gradual sinking is due to general conditions rather than to the necessity for another operation, which seeined so imminent on Thursday. The sleepless night was succeeded by a day during which the Pope seemed to lack any desire to vary the medical routine by receiving visits from Cardinats or others. Both morning and afternoon he remained isolated from all save-the decirors and attendants. The nourishment which the Pontiff took at first somewhat encouraged his entourage, but the condition of the patient this evening pointed to the fact that it had not had any beneficial effect. What is now most hoped for is that the Pope may be shalled to secure much, needed rest sympathy with the Pontiff took at first somewhat encouraged his entourage, but the condition of the patient this evening pointed to the fact that it had not had any beneficial effect. ed comparatively quiet, getting some sleep and seeing no one except the doctors and his immediate attendants. An Italian proverb says: "When the patient does not get worse he improves very much," but, with the Pope, after the last two weeks' experience, everybody has renounced making any predictions.

The heat is beginning to increase. The dinal Agilardi, bishop of Albano, is regarded as too democratic. Therefore, unless Cardinal Gotti, who has always been the most favored candidate, succeeds in overcoming the objection to him, it is likely that some one now unmentioned will be elected to succeed Pope fee. The cardinals themselves, naturally, maintain the greatest reserve, though they all more or less repeat as though in the nature of a pass-word that the "next Pope must be one combining the piety of Plus IX, with the intelligence of Lee XIII."

Attitude of Government.

Attitude of Government.

The cabinet ministers have held several meetings to discuss the attitude of the government on the death of the Pope, and it has been decided that it the vatican does not notify the Italian government of his death, and does notify the other governments, Italy will not officially participate in any manifestations of mourning, but limit herself to maintaining public order and insuring full liberty for the conclave, as prescribed by law. In arriving at such a decision the ministers declared that they have been guided by the wish to protect the dignity of the State, and by no lack of respect for the aged Pontiff, towards whom there have been most chivairous manifestations of sympathy from the King, who postponed his journey to Paris on account of the Pope's health, and from the whole people, who are participating in the universal feeling of regret at the Pontiff's illness, thus forgetting the traditional struggle between church and State.

Watchers on the Virginia shore expected to see her driven up the mouth of Chappawamic Creek, just helow Quantico, but an anchorage was found in shoal water before the gale had abated. The vessel dragged with her one of the two large buoys between which she was first anchored. She remained in her new position throughout the morning, but it is believed that Professor Langley will have her towed back. He is said to have been on board during the drifting. A temporary interruption of the plans was the chief damage.

The features of the contest were the pitching of Meade, the infielding and bailing of Sprinkle, the good stickwork of Eaton, for the "Stars," he securing three two-base hits, and the playing at short of S. Ford, for the "Laurels."

Both pitchors pitched a good game, although Meade had the best of it throughout the game, the Laurels being unable to secure more than three hits.
